

Evolution Designing space for people

Education Project 3

Education Adaptations

We understand that whatever the size of project, it can impact on an individual's or collective's positive experience of the building users. A well considered accessible alteration can make a big difference to an individual user, whilst a new reception can have a positive first impression to all users. We like to make a difference and gain as much satisfaction on completing a successful 'minor' project as completing a major new build project. Our understanding of educational buildings and our ability to provide innovative solutions can often result in our regular clients employing us on projects where the appointment of an Architect may not always be considered necessary. Projects include:

- fire precaution work
- kitchen design/alterations
- toilet refurbishments.
- DDA audits and adaptations.
- specialist teaching areas.
- sports facilities.
- community facilities.
- administration areas, such as offices and staff facilities.
- external works and canopies.
- temporary accommodation.
